Hemorrholds Cured.

I wish the affilicated and suffering to know that I positively assert that for twenty-nine years I have constantly suffered intense agony with that most terribe disease known as hemorrhold; or piles, in their very worst form. I have tried every available prescription, but no curative end, i have taken one jug (which sontained one gallon) of Morrobe Killer, and it has compiletely cured me. It now feels like a dream that I have ever suffered with that disease.

BAGGING AT THE KNEES.

A Business Enterprise That was Nipped in the Bud.

There came a knock at the door and a man entered. The caller was attired in a once genteel and still enrefully groomed suit of black, and had a brisk, business-like air about him.

This is Mr. Spotcash, is it not?" he asked.

'It is."

"My name is Ardup—Orville Ardup."
"Well, sir, what can I——"
"To come to the point at once, Mr. Spotcash, you are not averse to investing your money in any venture likely to offer large returns?"
"Well."
"Well."
"Well, I am the inventor of a device that will require a little capital to de-that will require a little capital to de-velop it, but there is a big fortune in it, and I am willing to go shares with any man that will furnish the money. I have come to you first, because of your well known"—

"Skip all that. Come to business.
"Yes, sir. Briefly, Mr. Spotcash, I have hit upon an idea which, if carried into practical effect, will prevent trou-sers from bagging at the knees. It will absolutely and lorever do away with the unsightly"—

the unsightly"—
"Pahaw!"
"Hear me out, Mr. Spotcash. The great disfigurement of masculine attire today is baggy kneed frousers. Every tailor, every man of fashion, every person who has given the subject any thought whatever, will tell you the same thing. Witness the effort made by well dressed men to overcome this defect. Observe how carefully some of them pull up the garment at the knees when they sit down. See what pains others take to retain the fore-and-aft crease up and down the legs. Candidly, Mr. Spotcash, do you admire creased pants—I beg pardon—trousers?"
"Why"—

"Of course you do not. Four or five years ago a man with a pair of creased trousers would have been blackballed by any club and would have been by any cuto and would have been steered into a back seat by the usher at any fashionable church as a second rate chap who wore hand-me-downs. How is it now? I know men personally, Mr-Spotcash, who make a practice of folding their trousers at night and placing them under their mattress so that the crease shall be there in the morning. Others put ironing boards or long wire stiffeners inside the legs of the garstiffeners inside the legs of the gar-ment for the same purpose. But it doesn't work, sir. It is only a make-shift. I merely put off the catas-trophe. The baggy knee is inherent in the garment itself as now made. Mark me—I eay as now made. My plan is to attack the evil in the beginning—to de-stroy the possibility of baggy knees by making the fabric of something that will not bag.

making the fabric of something that will not bag.

"I beg your pardon—Mr. Spotcash. It seemed so to me at Brst. But nothing is insurmountable to a man of energy and resources. The idea occurred to me at first of fastening small elastic rubber bands or strips on the inner side of the knees, but I soon saw this would not do. Then I thought of the plan of weaving the rubber into the cloth itself, but this would be equally objectionable. It would make the cloth wrinkle unequally and look odd. Finally the idea struck me of having the fabric itself woven more tightly at the knee than anywhere else, so it could not give. You see the philosophy of the thing. There is more strain at the knees than any other portion of the garment. Make it absolutely unyielding at this point and the question is solved. To do this, of course, will require special machinery applied to the looms now in use, and this is where the expense"—

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my Lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my, absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at Logan Drug Co.'s Drug Store; regular size, 50 cents and $1.
